THREE CASTLE HILL CIDERS EARN FINALIST STATUS FOR THE 2023 GOOD FOOD AWARDS

Keswick, Virginia, January 10, 2023 – Castle Hill Cider is proud to announce finalist status for three of their ciders in the 2023 Good Food Awards. Dry Hopped, Silver Bough, and Sunday Muse are three of a total of 38 ciders earning finalist status from entrants across the country.

In a competitive field of more than 1,750 entries, 513 products created by 359 finalists were identified by category experts and consumer tasters alike as exceptionally delicious, while also meeting the rigorous sustainability criteria necessary to be considered a Finalist. Hailing from 42 states, these companies are leading their industries and communities towards a tastier and more responsible future.

Rob Campbell, General Manager for Castle Hill Cider remarked, “We are humbled to earn finalist status for Dry Hopped, Silver Bough, and Sunday Muse for the 2023 Good Food Awards. Each of these ciders are unique in both the artisanal techniques employed to create them as well as their taste and attributes. “

Cider Maker Don Whitaker added, “We are proud to be recognized for our ability to create a diverse library of ciders which appeal to a variety of tastes, while upholding our commitment to sustainability both in the orchard and throughout our cidermaking processes.”

Castle Hill Cider’s tasting room is open Thursday through Sunday for guests to taste its library of hard ciders.

About Castle Hill Cider

Inspired by the historical roots of Castle Hill Estate and the first Albemarle Pippin apples grown here pre-revolutionary war, our cider makers set out to create the highest quality Virginia cider season after season. Utilizing a variety of apples grown both on our 600-acre grounds and by a community of local growers, a library of orchard-driven Virginia ciders is available at our Tasting

Room and Grounds in Keswick, Virginia. We invite you to discover Castle Hill Cider - a true ground to glass adventure for your senses.

About the Good Food Foundation
